

Price List for Cable Tray Construction in Sudan

Article Overview

Cable tray prices in Sudan vary depending on material, type, and specifications, typically ranging from competitive market rates for galvanized, stainless steel, or aluminum trays.

Price Overview

In Sudan, cable trays are available in hot-dip galvanized, stainless steel, and aluminum materials, with prices influenced by the tray type (ladder, wire mesh, or solid bottom), length, and load capacity . Standard lengths are often 2.4 meters per section, and fittings are priced per unit . Market prices are competitive, with suppliers offering customized solutions to meet industrial and construction requirements .

Factors Affecting Unit Price

- Material Type: Galvanized steel is common and cost-effective, while stainless steel and aluminum are more expensive due to corrosion resistance and durability .
- Tray Type: Ladder trays are widely used for industrial applications, while wire mesh trays are preferred for flexibility and ventilation .
- Customization: Custom sizes, shapes, and load capacities can increase unit costs .
- Supplier and Certification: CE-certified trays or those from established manufacturers may carry a premium .
- Import and Local Production: Imported trays may be more expensive due to shipping and customs, whereas local manufacturers offer competitive pricing
